PETITCODIAC
KIWANIS NEWS

Spring is here! It's been a busy one so far and looks like it's going to be a busy May. Starting off April, we were pleased to donate $5000 to the Petitcodiac Legion, towards their roof repairs. We will also be hosting a pancake breakfast on May 11, to raise additional funds for the roof repairs. On April 9th, we hosted over 30 farmers from our area as a thank you for their contributions to our tables and community. The evening consisted of dinner, conversation and guest speaker, Calvin Hicks, from Golden Acres Honey Farm. On April 20 & 21st, was the Flyball Dog Show at the arena, with our canteen offering snacks. See page 2 for upcoming Kiwanis Events including trivia and fundraisers!

Muay Thai student Logan McMackin heads to Toronto to take Blue Shorts test

From the Editor

The month of April gave us some really nice days. The lawns are turning green and I am getting the urge to get the garden started. The fiddle-heads should soon be ready.

The Radical Speed Sport show was busy this year. The "The Dukes of Hazard" General Lee's jump was well attended.

The racing season for 2024 gets started in the month of May, you can check the race dates on page 21 of this paper. Each month we will have the race schedule printed in the paper.

A reminder that the Petty AutoFest is planned for the first Sunday of June. Looking forward to seeing all of your special vehicle's that is your pride and joy. This is the month we have all been waiting for since 2020, the new expansion to the Maritime Motorsports Hall Of Fame & Museum is scheduled to start.

Our next long weekend is Victoria Day that starts on May 18th. This used to be the weekend the Fundy Park opened.

The university students have finished another year of schooling, with some ready to go out in the world with their trades.

From all of us here at the Local News & Views wishing all of the mother's a Very Happy Mothers Day May 12th!

The Community of Three Rivers

ELGIN NEWS!

The Elgin Eco Association will be holding its annual general meeting on May 2 starting at 7pm. Summer camp registrations will also take place that evening. Camp registration is on a first come first served basis. You can also register online when our facebook page goes online. The price for camp is $50 per child for members, and $100 for non-members.

As this is our 21st year we will be discussing, what our next steps are. The EEA started because the Elgin school was shut down. It was the center of the community. The founders of the EEA felt that we needed another gathering place. They purchased a field in the middle of Elgin, and from there we have built a beautiful park for our community to meet.

To build a park you need money. To make money, so we needed a fundraiser. The Elgin Mountain Bike Race was created to fill this need. To have a race you need trails. It has continued to snowball from there. There is now a large trail system maintained by the EEA that can be used year round. Because the EEA is also about getting out into nature. We have also worked very hard to save the Mapleton Preserve trail from being clear cut. Because of this work the Mapleton Preserve trail is here for people to enjoy. Summer camp has introduced the children in the area to the joy of being outside. With all that being said, where do we go next?

Members and future members come on out to the AGM to help us decide what our future is going to look like. If you see the value this organization has created and feel you can contribute, don't hesitate to put your name down to become an officer on the board, be a committee member, or just volunteer to lend a hand at one of our events. Small contributions go a long way to helping a community, and if we want things to be better it is up to us!

The bike trails are open. Please be cautious when riding. The trails have not all been blown off and cleaned up. Walkers please be aware that riders have the right away. We are excited to announce that we are going to hire a summer student this year. This student will be hired under the Canada Summer Job program. Job Description This student would be hired to maintain our existing network of multi-use trails in the community. This will be a 280 hour job with flexible work hours. The person will be responsible for removing and clearing trees and other debris. Construct new trails and/or features as directed by the trail supervisor. Repair damaged bike trails due to erosion and rider use. Operate brush saws, and pole saws. Qualifications: an interest in mountain biking, knowledge of trail building techniques, self motivated, ability to work with basic hand tools, such as shovels and rakes, access to a four wheeler required. They will be asked to report on the progress of each task and offer possible improvements to their supervisor. Please send resume to elgineconb@gmail.com Deadline for applications is May 3rd.

In addition to the bike trails is a new year to enjoy the popular Mapleton Acadian Forest hiking trail! After the long winter, the trees that blocked the trail, and the precarious hanging trees have been removed by volunteer members François Desrochers and JoAnn Ball. At the time of writing the trail was still snow covered due to its higher elevation and also very wet in places, though each day it clears a little more. A new bridge was to be installed last fall, but due to the changed of staff at Nature Trust this did not happen, hopefully it will happen this year.

As soon as we enter the month of May we hear the return of many species of birds to the forest around the trail. The Acadian Forest offers ample opportunity for many birds to find nesting spots. It is part of the life cycle of the forest that large trees fall, these areas of blown down trees create light in places that once were dark, and seedlings that have been waiting, sometimes for several years, are quick to shoot up and replace the fallen mature trees. The fallen trees create a safe space not only for birds and small creatures, but also slower growing species of trees enjoy the tangle of branches. While not always a beautiful sight, fallen trees also act as a nursery keeping seedlings safe until they are big enough to share some of their nutrients with a hungry deer in search of a snack.

Early May we will organize a trail clean up. We will need volunteers to help with some popping and pruning of branches. It takes very little time for the branches to spread out and narrow the trail. If you would like to be a part of protecting this little piece of the Acadian Forest, please check Facebook for dates and come help us on the trail.

The Mapleton Acadian Trail is situated on Route 895 just over 4km from the junction of Route 905 and 895 between Petitcodiac and Elgin.

After our AGM May 2nd the next regular meeting will be June 6 at the Women's Institute Hall.

So, What Happened?

It's the late 1800s in Ontario. Life is a struggle for rural families, but they do the best they can just like many others in their province and across Canada. However, for the Hoodless family of Stoney Creek tragedy struck with the death of their four year old son.

Learning that her son's death was caused by drinking unpasteurized milk, Adelaide Hoodless was determined that no family should suffer from what was such a preventable loss.

Armed with grit, time, determination, and collaboration, Adelaide worked hard and "February 19, 1897 saw the first formal organization of a Women's Institute. Through the combined efforts of Mr. Erland Lee of the Farmer's Institute and Mrs. Adelaide Hunter Hoodless, the Stoney Creek Women's Institute was formed. The object was to provide a means for rural women to meet and discuss their problems and possible solutions, thus acquiring a greater knowledge and efficiency for carrying on their responsibilities as homemakers and citizens."

"The women in other provinces became interested and the movement spread. In 1909 Institutes were organized in British Columbia and Alberta, and in 1910 Manitoba began to organize; Saskatchewan, Quebec, and New Brunswick organized in 1911; and two years later Prince Edward Island and Nova Scotia realized the need for such an organization."

So What happened next?

...stay tuned for the next issue!

The History of the Tingley Farm - Part 1 of 2

Written by Marlene Hickman

This history of the Tingley Farm on the Colpitts Road, Colpitts Settlement, is based on stories collected from Jim Tingley, told to and recorded by his daughter Marlene in the 1990s. It is difficult to tell the story of a farm without also telling the story of the farmer who dedicated his life to it. So this is a story of the man - and the farm.

At the tender age of not quite 3, in 1921, James (Jim) Tingley moved from Lewisville to the farm in Colpitts Settlement where he would live for the next 66 years. His parents, Art and Eliza Tingley, decided they wanted to raise their growing family in the country and chose the farm formerly owned by two Colpitts families. Their oldest child Earl was 13, Irene 12, Bertha 10, Eddie 9, Vera 7, James 2 1/2, and Frank, not yet one year old. Their last child, Douglas, was born on the farm in 1923.

The family packed their belongings into the only car that Art ever owned - a 1919 Model T Ford Touring Car. The rest of were piled on a wagon drawn by their old Clydesdale horse, Dick. A cow was tied to the back. The first night in their new home, the family slept on the floor. It was a large house, a double house designed to house two families. It had two kitchens, a shared pantry, two livingrooms and a bedroom on the main floor. Upstairs there were five bedrooms. A large fruit orchard grew in front and another in the back field some distance from the house. They grew cherries, plums, and a large variety of apples. It is possible the previous owners had purchased their trees from the Tingley tree nursery located in Crooked Creek, Albert County, a large operation whose owner, Agreen Tingley, was a distant cousin of Art. At one time, a mill operated on the brook behind the farm, but ruins and only the dam remained.

Art Tingley continued his work as a "spare" fireman for the railway. Except for those times when he was laid off, he was away from home for days at a time, leaving his sons to help their mother with the farm chores. Like many of her neighbours in the 1920s, Eliza decided to raise foxes for extra income. Using her husband's train pass, she travelled to Montreal to sell the pelts.

1933 was a tragic year. Nine year old Douglas died of pneumonia. A few short months later, the original house on the farm burned. The family sheltered in another building on the farm while they struggled to rebuild on the old foundation. Jim had been getting up early each morning to do the chores, then jogged the two miles to school. At the end of each day he would turn the cattle out to water, clean the stable, and whatever else needed doing. At age 15, in 1933, Jim decided he was needed at home and quit school. He continued to rise early each morning to do farm chores, before joining his brother Earl and brothers-in-law Murray McFarlane and Steven Hopper to cut lumber from woodland Eliza had purchased, returning home each night to do it all again. Eventually, an unfinished shell of a house was built.

The two barns on the farm needed repairs. In 1939, Jim and Art cut logs to expand one of the barns, adding a hip roof, with the help of Art's brother Percy. Jim's older brother Eddie helped when he could, but he eventually enlisted and went off to war. Youngest brother Frank was in Normal School training to be a teacher and he joined the Airforce. The older children had married and left the farm.

In 1940, Jim's mother lost her battle with breast cancer, and Jim found himself alone on the farm much of the time. November of that year he brought his new bride, Ivy Mesheau, home to the farm and they began their life together. Art was boarding in Moncton, close to his work and visited the farm when he could. Four years later, Art married Hazel Crandall and moved to her home in Salisbury.

The early years of Jim and Ivy's marriage were challenging. They started with seven cows, ten calves, some hens and pigs. They improved the farm and finished the house, installing electricity and plumbing. They also needed to find ways to generate a cash flow to feed their growing family. They sold or bartered potatoes, carrots, apples, butter, eggs and whatever else they had to local stores. In the fall, they butchered pigs and cows to hang in the barn for winter meat. They also made head cheese, barrels of sauerkraut and salt pork.

Part 2 to be continued in the June issue

Mother's Day May 12 2024

The origin of Mother's Day has been associated with Anna M Jarvis. She was a devoted daughter who was concerned about the neglect shown to mothers by grown children. After her mother's death, she promoted a Mother's Day service at the church in 1907, she donated carnations (her mother's favourite) to every mother. May 10,1908 was recognized as the first official Mother's Day Celebration. Congress passed dedicating the second Sunday in May as Mother's Day. On May 12th as we celebrate all mothers, step mother's, chosen mother's, mother figures, take this time to express your love, appreciation and gratitude for their unconditional love, support and sacrifice. This day is a reminder of the incredible women walking the planet. Let her know she is doing the best she can and that she's amazing.

Mothers Day

by Gloria Scribner

*Once upon a Mothers Day
Long ago and far away
I was just a child at play
But "you" were always "Mother"*

As a child in the 40's my earliest memory of Mother's Day was the entourage of family arriving in droves - women heading straight upstairs to the spare room to lay their coats on the bed and do a final check in the bedroom mirror before heading down to the parlour to present the "lacy be-ribboned" Mother's Day cards to My "Mama". The men, in their Sunday shirts and shiny shoes, hung their hats on the moose-antlers in the entryway.

It seemed then as it does now that "Mama" worked more on Mother's Day than any other day. Preparing dinner and greeting her guests. Reading cards and shuffling plants on the windowsills to make room for a few more.

If she did get a chance to sit down, the lazy cat jumped onto her lap (if I didn't get there first).

The children presented their bouquets to "Grandma" and hugs and kisses were abundant. Little girls wore their Sunday best and boys were perfect little gentlemen (until after dinner when with crumbs still on their faces headed outside to play with cousins).

On Mothers Day, Moms everywhere were "Queens for a Day" and when evening came and quiet came down she pondered on the precious ones who made her a "Mama".

On any given day her world consisted of sights, sounds, and smells that repeat themselves in memory even now as I remember the warmth of her early morning rituals of fire starting, breakfast cooking. Morning sounds of rooster crowing, hungry hens clucking, as she gathered the eggs.

I remember the smells of her rose sachet, peppermints, and lilacs in the vase. I can see in my mind's eye the Monday morning wash flapping on the line under push-pegs and even spread on the grass, smelling of lye soap, javex, and country sunshine. The springtime house smelled of Bon Ami, Mule-team Borax, wallpaper paste, and lemon oil.

I hear laughter ringing o'er the years as I remember 2 boys lying belly-down on the parlour rug reading the comic strip pages of the Family Herald or the Free Press Weekly; I hear the clicking of knitting needles and the hum of an old song I'd heard her playing on the parlour organ. I hear the treadle of the Singer sewing machine, and coming through the springtime air, the whine of the wood-cutter while she cooked dinner for the crew.

Mama laughed often, but she cried a lot too. She cried when she was happy, or when she was sad. She cried at weddings, funerals, good-byes, and unkind outbursts from those she loved. She laughed at funny songs, antics of her family, and even herself at times, and because she was ticklish (and Daddy knew it).

She read her Bible a lot and prayed a lot, especially if one of us was sad, or broken hearted, or "if she was".

Her favourite things were new babies, bread coming out of a hot oven, and a batch of deep yellow butter in the springtime when the cows were out on the new grass. She loved the sound of the "Midnight Special" bringing her darlings home, the summer hail beating against the windowpane, and dancing on the lane. She loved "mail days" when post cards read "Somewhere in Europe" and nephews remembered her.

But most of all she loved those memories of her own "Mother" and the love that she passed on to all the daughters and sons who remember "Mama".

SALISBURY LION'S CLUB

Happy Spring to all.

Lion David Rolls manages the borrowing of our inventory of health/medical equipment. Every now and then someone donates a wheelchair, crutches, canes and walkers to the Salisbury Club. The club can only accept equipment that is in good shape and is safe to use, because we do not have the resources or skills to repair donated equipment. If you need such equipment, you can give Lion Dave a call at 506 215 0321 and leave your phone number. Our inventory is small and can vary day to day.

From the Desk of Your MLA Ross Wetmore, Gagetown - Petitcodiac

As the seasons change, so do the concerns of our first responders, particularly fire fighters along with search and rescue personnel. As flood season gives way to forest fire season, we are reminded that we cannot prevent floods, but we can prevent some forest fires. We cannot stop Mother Nature from hurling lightning bolts into tinder dry forests, but we can do everything possible to ensure we don't set the woods ablaze through human activity.

You will recall the forest fires in the St. Andrew's area at the end of May last year. 500 hectares of forest burned, and one home was lost. An ATV fire in the woods was identified as the cause. I would not presume to suggest this fire was preventable, but it serves to remind us to keep our equipment in top form and to consider carrying fire suppression when we venture into New Brunswick's forests. A small fire extinguisher could make all the difference. When building a campfire, it's worth remembering what some Scout leaders once taught: the first thing to consider when building a fire is how it will be extinguished.

We are very fortunate in New Brunswick to have a regiment of well-trained and dedicated forest-fire fighters. When they are not dealing with our own wildfires, they are travelling across Canada and around the world to help when and where they are needed. Last year, our New Brunswickers helped battle fires in Alberta, in an arrangement that works both ways. If we ever need them, and we hope and pray we don't, other provinces stand ready to help us fight forest fires.

April 16th was the official first day of wildfire season and people are being reminded to check burning conditions before lighting any fires and to take action to protect their property. This includes moving wood piles away from homes, clearing brush from around their properties, and removing debris from gutters and roofs. Our woodlands suffered 209 wildfires last year, which is down from the ten-year average of 246. With luck, this year, we can keep the number below average and perhaps set a record for fewest fires. Here's hoping.

It is hard to believe our next communication will be the annual congratulations for our graduates. It seems time doesn't just fly; it flies at the speed of light.

Thank you for your continued kindness and support.

Comedy at Large

by Laurie Blanchard Salisbury, NB

In a story I read, the author shares the experience of him and his wife going to a very popular restaurant where the portions were generous and at a very fair price. He explains that he couldn't resist cleaning up his large platter of food. And then he adds this...on the way from the restaurant to the car, I released a good two cubic feet of carbon into the atmosphere! Hmmmm...is that a carbon foot print or perhaps a carbon butt print? Whichever.

How about this ad in the classifieds of an automotive magazine -1978 Chev 1/2 ton short box. 350 cu. in. small block, automatic. Always stored indoors. Asking $5,500 OBO. Must sell. Got new baby. Now wait a minute, is there such a thing as a used baby? Just wondering.

An ad for a 68 Buick Electra that is in perfect original condition. Never driven in the winter. Call with reasonable offer. You will only be disappointed if you don't see it. WHAT??? How can one be disappointed without seeing it? ahhh jeepers...what a nice car! Sure wish I had went to see it! Sarcasm intended.

POINTS TO PONDER...

If 7 out of 10 people suffer from constipation, do the other 3 enjoy it? A conscience is that little nagging part of you that interferes when the rest of you is having a real good time.

Grandmother's Song

Grandmother thought for a moment, then said, "This is what it means, Oh, how happy our childhood days are, Oh how happy our childhood days are, But oh, so soon, so soon--- they pass away." "

There were tears in Grandmother's eyes when she finished, and the girls knew it was because she was thinking how many years had passed since she was a girl in Sweden.

Edith and Alice were two little girls who were visiting their grandmother. They loved to hear her tell about her girlhood in the land of Sweden. She opened an old trunk in the attic and showed them the bright-colored woolen petticoat she had worn. The girls thought it was very different.

"It was very warm to wear, and the winters were so very cold that I was glad to put it on as I dressed before the big, open fireplace on chilly mornings," said Grandmother.

"Do you know any Swedish songs?" asked Edith.

"I know many songs," she answered. She sang several little songs in Swedish and then told them what the words were in English.

"Would you teach one to us?" ask Alice.

Grandmother patted her, and said she would. The girls learned the happy little tune, and the Swedish words to it.

"Tell us what it means," said Edith.

Frank Eastwick
1950-2024

Frank Marlen Eastwick, 73 of Anagance passed away unexpectedly at the Moncton Hospital on Monday, April 8, 2024.

Born and raised in Anagance, Frank found his love for cars at a young age. He could be found working in the autobody shop as a painter, or racing on the River Glade Speedway. One skill that amazed me as a young kid was Grampy Frank's ability to name the make and model of an old car when it drove by. From a young age, Frank helped out on a local farm and eventually had his own where he raised cows, turkeys and chickens.

Frank enjoyed telling stories of his life and reminiscing on the mischief he got into back in the day. He talked about his time growing up in Anagance, and how he and his brother, Klein, kept their mother on her toes. He loved to talk about his family. He talked about when his daughter, Nancy, was growing up; she was always a few steps behind him, following her Dad everywhere he went. His son, Jason, took over the farm for Frank and worked to help it grow. His grandkids were his pride and joy; always talking about them and wanting to know more about the amazing things they were doing. I think that the mischief Frank got into back in the day made him an even better grandfather; wise and funny, always having a story to make you feel better about the situation you might have ended up in.

Frank was predeceased by his parents: Chester and Myrtle (Coates) Eastwick and his wife, Marion (MacKenzie) Eastwick. He is survived and will be dearly missed by his brother: Klein; his children: Nancy Colby (Tim), and Jason Eastwick (Lindsey); girlfriend and companion: Anna Linkletter; niece: Tara Eastwick and grandchildren: Emily, Christopher, Jamison, Preslea, Parker, Tyler and Connor.

Arrangements have been entrusted to Salisbury Funeral Home, 3350 Route 106 (506-372-4800) where visiting was Monday, April 15 from noon until time of service at 1 pm with Pastor Paul Leger officiating. Interment in Anagance Cemetery.

If desired, donations in memory of Frank to the Anagance Cemetery would be appreciated.

Night Or Day,
Help Is Just A Call Away

United Way
Centraide Greater Moncton and Southeastern New Brunswick

Sometimes, life changes in an instant. Other times, a series of small changes can lead us to feel overwhelmed and to seek new ways to cope. The 211 helpline is there for you in any case.

A woman from a village in NB called 211 when her partner became ill and she needed to take on new responsibilities, besides being a caregiver. She was looking for assistance with budgeting and learning how to pay her bills online more independently since her husband had dementia and they had just moved from another province. She did not know where to turn for help amid all the changes.

The 211 Navigator listened to the caller and paraphrased her requests to ensure she gave the caller the right resources, including financial literacy tools. Based on the caller's needs, the Navigator offered to do some research and a follow-up call; the caller agreed. When the Navigator called back, she was able to offer referral to another resource that could help the client learn to do the tasks she required. The caller was grateful for the Navigator's time and care, and the Navigator encouraged her to call 211 again anytime she needed assistance learning about resources that served her new community.

When you're not sure where to turn to find the help that you need, remember that help starts here at 211. Dial 2-1-1 anytime or visit nb.211.ca to find information on the full range of social, community, and government supports available to help you face life's challenges. Our information and referral service is free and confidential, and available 24/7 in over 150 languages.

"Where are we Headed?"
by Dave McPherson

(This article is not intended to support any politician or political party. Just consider the content) Our world is so inconsistent at times.

I just watched the news report where the parents of a boy are going to jail for 10 to 15 years because they missed the warning signs that their son had some issues which could be dangerous. Their son shot and killed students at his school.

But in our province, we are in the middle of a dispute over whether parents should be allowed to know what gender name their child uses in school.

That seems so inconsistent. One situation says the parent is responsible for their children, the other says the government or institution knows better than the parents.

Parenting is the most difficult job anyone will take on. Yes, some parents will fail, and some people may be terrible failures. We humans are far from perfect. But the overwhelming majority of parents love their children more than any institution could ever love them. And they commit their lives to raising their children the best they can.

I think our province is on a dangerous path when it allows an institution to get in the way of good, loving parenting. It is a slippery slope toward the type of society that our veterans fought against in two major wars.

This has more to do with History than Religion. You don't need to study history for very long to find examples of governments and institutions that worked to control the minds of their people. And history shows us it never turns out well. We need to learn from that. "Those who do not learn from history are doomed to repeat it."

No one has invested more in the life of their child than their parents. No one is committed more, cares more, loves more, or works harder for the child than the parents. The government or institution that gets in the way of loving parenting needs to be kept in check.

Dave McPherson

Pastor of New Canaan Baptist Church, 6145 Route 112.

Salisbury Happenings

Touch-a-Tractor

Thanks to the participation of local farmers and businesses, the Salisbury 250 Committee hosted a Touch-a-Tractor event on April 13. A variety of equipment was on display, offering an opportunity to gain a better understanding of the agriculture industry, which is a huge part of Salisbury's identity.

For a full photo gallery from the event, visit our Salisbury 250 web page at <https://salisburynb.ca/salisbury-250/>

Salisbury 250

2024 marks 250 years since the Salisbury area was permanently settled. Over the course of this year, each month will be filled with themed events, celebrations, history, heritage and more!

April focused on our history of Agriculture, one of the largest industries to impact our local economy. Throughout the month, we explored the importance of farming, discovered more about the lifestyle, and learned about the evolution of various equipment used in the industry.

Our focus in May will be on Families.

Agriculture History in the Salisbury Region (Written by Reginald Lewis)

Agriculture in Salisbury area prior to World War II (1939-1945) provided a large part of the economy to the local region. A great number of families were raised on farms and supplied employment for many people.

Most were mixed farms with some dairy cattle, beef cattle, pigs, chickens as well as many fox farms.

As markets evolved such as milk processing plants, meat processing plants for beef, pork and chicken in Moncton, farms began specializing in individual commodities to supply these markets.

My recollections are mainly in dairy farming beginning around 1950. At this time there would be as many as 50 milk producers shipping milk to Moncton and Saint John from the local area. Some dairy farms were also shipping to local cheese and butter plants.

When I started hauling milk to Moncton in 1960 there was 12 farms shipping milk from the Salisbury Road and approximately 12 from Coverdale Road to Riverview including Colpitts Settlement. There was also at that time 13 dairy plants in the Moncton and Riverview area.

Over the next several decades, farms developed into larger operations with more modern and efficient buildings, equipment and ways of handling livestock that produced a lot more milk.

Today in this area we have 12 dairy farms and one major pig farm, no local dairy plants and only one dairy pasteurizing plant in all of New Brunswick.

I would encourage all families to take part in the annual open farm days to get an understanding of farm life.

Annual ParticipACTION Challenge Returns In June!

In 2023, Salisbury was named Canada's Most Active Community. This June, we want to be named Canada's Most Active Community again, but we will need YOUR help!

This year's challenge looks a little different. To participate you will need to download the Optimity app in your device's app store. Once you do, you can register for an account using a Salisbury postal code. When in doubt, you can use the postal code for Town Hall: E4J 3E3.

Looking for FREE activities during the month of June to get moving or try something new? Visit the Town of Salisbury's ParticipACTION webpage for ways to stay active in June. The Town of Salisbury will be hosting events nearly daily, ranging from kayak excursions, Zumba classes, spikeball, pickleball tournaments, walking groups, and more!

Throughout the month, stay tuned to the Town's Facebook Page for more information and updates on the activities planned.

For more information, please e-mail recreation@salisburynb.ca

Financial Assistance For Recreation (Far)

Introducing... FAR (Financial Assistance for Recreation), the Town's new grant program to break down the barriers to accessing recreation programs!

The Town will be piloting a new made-in-Salisbury grant program intended to assist youth living within our municipal boundaries access and cover costs related to their recreation program(s). From hockey and baseball to dance classes and summer camp and everything in between, the Town knows that Salisbury's youth live up to the title of being Canada's Most Active Community. But unfortunately, costs for both registration and equipment can be a barrier to ensuring that everyone has an equal chance to participate in this type of programming.

Applications for FAR will be accepted at different times per year, based on the stream you are applying for and program you wish to participate in. The first intake will be accepting applications as of May 1, 2024 (for summer programs, such as baseball, soccer, summer camps, swimming lessons, etc.). Participants are eligible for UP TO $300 per participant (or $500 per family), based on their situation, funds available, and number of applications.

E-mail recreation@salisburynb.ca for more information.

Salisbury Chosen for Cultural Community Pilot

UMNB/Union of the Municipalities of NB/Union des municipalités du N.-B. has announced that the Town of Salisbury has been selected as the host community for a pilot project to support the development of a municipal cultural policy for 2024-2025.

The Town of Salisbury was selected by a committee made up of representatives from UMNB and ArtsLink NB. The collaborative process will engage the municipal council, staff, and a wide range of community members, supported by UMNB and its partners.

If you would like to be part of this process, please e-mail recreation@salisburynb.ca.

Survey On Salisbury Housing Needs

The Town wants your opinion on what type of housing you think we should have in Salisbury! Whether you own your home, rent, have been looking for a unit, or have suggestions on anything in between, your input is needed!

The Town has partnered with the Housing Hub of New Brunswick to explore the residential development potential of a 28-acre parcel of Town-owned land. To help create concept neighbourhood plans, we are looking for public input to validate and add to existing housing data and statistics.

The survey is available on the Town's website, www.salisburynb.ca, or in-person at the Town Office or the Salisbury Public Library. Survey responses will be collected until May 11, 2024.

Maple Syrup

The following was written by Connie Colpitts, a Salisbury 250 Committee member, with credit to the NB Maple Syrup Association and, Debora Carr, Connecting Albert County, Culture and Heritage.

New Brunswick has a long history of commercial maple syrup production. Today, it is the third largest producer of maple syrup in the world with an annual production of over 3 million kilograms.

Indigenous people harvested this liquid gold for centuries before the arrival of the Europeans. They shared their knowledge with the first settlers, providing the only source of sugar for many families.

The Mi'kmaq used birch bark containers placed at the bottom of a maple tree in which a "V" cut was made, and a reed placed at the bottom to direct the sap into the container. The sap was then boiled in a hollowed-out log filled with water into which red hot rocks were repeatedly placed until the water boiled and syrup was produced.

The first commercial production of syrup in Albert County was in the early 1840's by the Colpitts family of Pleasant Vale. In their first year, they gathered enough sap to produce 6200lbs of product.

At that time, horse drawn sleds were used to haul the large vat filled with the sap from cans hung on the tree spiel and gathered by the men and women on snowshoes. The vats were then taken to the sugar camp where it was drained into the evaporator and in some cases large cauldrons over open fires.

Today, most all commercial producers are on pipelines connected from tree to tree that then drains into large collection vats placed lower on the hillside to allow gravity to do its work.

To increase productivity and efficiency, many new methods are employed: from pre-heating the sap to using the steam heat produced from the evaporator to an osmosis system that removes the majority of the water from the sap before it enters the evaporator.

Last year, maple syrup producers reported $38.8-million in revenues or 4.9% of NB total farm operating revenues.

The experience of going to the sugar woods and attending a "sugaring-off" is a Spring ritual that no child or adult should go without. An NB "rite of passage!"

TOWN OF SALISBURY RECREATION MASTER PLAN

The plan is to have the barbecue fired up, serving burgers and hot dogs - perhaps even a demonstration of some sort!

This open house is open to everyone to come out and meet your Salisbury firefighters and see what they do.

This will likely be the last SFR open house held at 56 Douglas Street, as the plan is to be in the new fire hall sometime in 2025!
